The following letter, received here yesterday y Messrs. Gibb, Livingston & Co., has been handed to us for publication :-Hornow, 1st March, 1886. The British steamer Partridge, Captain Stavers, which arrived here from Hongkong this afternoon, reports having passed a quantity of white painted planks outside Hainan Head, and having sighted a foreign built boat inside Hainan Straits. The boat appeared to have a number of men on board, and Captain Stavers bore down towards it. He found it to be the gig of the Chinese gunboat Sui Tsing, and it contained part of her erew. They reported that the Sui Tsing had struck on a rock near Now Chow this morning during a fog and knocked her bottom out. She sunk in shallow water. The obituary of the Society of Friends for the past year for Great Britain and Ireland shows some striking instances of longevity. In all, the deaths of 317 persons are recorded-160 males and 157 females. The infantile mertality is very slight—the total number of deaths of children under one year being 13, and of those. between one and five years 11. Of persons from 5 to 10 years there were seven deaths, and 10 to 15 years 4 deaths only in the year. The deaths slowly increase with the decades following, but not until that from 50 to 60 is reached is the number over 20, for the decade named the actual number being 29. But from 60 to 70 years there were not fewer than 51 deaths; from 70 to 80 years the number was 72, there being 31 males. and 41 females. The deaths at the are of from 80 to 90 years were as many as 61, the number |of males being 24, and females 37. And of deaths of persons between 90 and 100 years of age therewere eight, of whom three were males and five females. One of the latter eight was 92; two were each 93: another 91: while most of the remainder had turned the 90th year.

A FATAL MISTAKE IN AMERICA.

The Cleveland (Ohio, U.S.A.) Press, of Feb 23, 1883, publishes an account of a fatal surgical operation which has caused a great commotion among medical men throughout the whole country, Dr. Thayer, the most eminent surgeon in Cleveland, pronouncing it seandslous. It appears that a Mrs. King had been suffering for Chinese Imperial Loan of 1884 B-5 per cent many years with some disease of the stomach which had resisted the treatment of all the physicians in attendance. The disease commenced with a slight derangement of the digestion, with a poor appetite, followed by a peculiar indescribable distress in the stomach, a feeling that has been described as a faint "all gone" sensation, a sticky slime collecting about the teeth, causing a disagreeable taste, especially in the morning. This sensation was not removed by food, but on the contrary, it was increased. The eyes then became tinged with yellow, and were sunken. After awhile the hands and feet became cold and sticky-a cold perspiration. There was a constant tired and danguid feeling. Then followed a dreadful nervousness, with gloomy forebodings. When rising suddenly, there came a dizzy feeling like vertigo. Aftern time the bowels became costive, so that it was difficult to procure a movement without a eathartic. Soon followed a disposition to spit up the food after eating, sometimes, in a sour, fermented condition. All this derangement caused a terrible palpitation of the heart, so as to make the breathing difficult. Finally, the patient was unable to retain any food whatever, and there was constant pain in the abdomen-All prescribed remedies failing to give relief a consultation was held, when it was decided that the patient had a cancer in the stomach, and, in order to save the patient's life, an operation was justifiable. Accordingly, on Feb. 22, 1883, the operation was performed by Dr. Vance, in the presence of Dr. Tuckerman, Dr. Perrier, Dr. Arms, Dr. Gordon, Dr. Lapuer, and Dr. Halliwell of the Police Board. The operation consisted in laying operathe cavity of the abdomen and exposing the stomach, bowels, liver, and pancrons. When this had been done, an examination of the organs was made, but, to the horror and dismay of the doctors, there was no cancer to be found. The patient did not have a cancer. When too late, the medical men discovered that they had made a terrible mistake. They sewed the parts together and dressed the wound that they had made, but the poor woman sank from exhaustion and died in a few hours. How sad it must be for the husband of this poor woman to know that his wife died from the effects of a surgical operation that ought never to have been performed. If this woman had taken the proper remedy for dyspensia (for this is what the disease really was), she would have been living to-day. Seigel's Curative Syrup, a remedy made express ly for dyspensia or indigestion, has restored many such cases to perfect health after all other kinds of treatment have failed. The evidence of it: efficient in curing this class of cases is too voluminous to be published here, but those who read the published evidence in favour of this despeptio remedy do not question its convincing nature; and the article has an extensive sale Sold by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors throughout the world, and by the proprietors. PRONOUNCED HOPELESS BY FOUR DOCTORS. Mr. W. Bouchier, Eastover, Bridgwater, sends ### the following:-"West Quay, Bridgwater, December 21st, 1883.

" Dear Sir.—It affords me great pleasure to add my testimony to the wonderful effect of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. For a period of eight years I suffered from a severe cough and indigestion, with frequent attacks of rheumatism; and for eleven months I was under medical treatment, without deriving the slightest benefit. The last four doctors I was under assured me that mine was a hopeless case, and gave me up as incurable. About that time heard of Seigel's Syrup, which I was induced to try, and through its use, I am thankful to say, I quickly got restored to health, and am now able to follow my usual occupation. I may say that who never I feel the least symptom of my old complaints I at once take a few doses of the Syrup, which quickly sets me all right. I send you this in the hope that other sufferers may be induced to give the Syrup a trial.—Yours truly (Signed) "Wm. Rendall."

GIBRALTAR.

It was a sudden inspiration which induced Sir George Rooke, as he lay, with a combined Tangier, to make a dash at the great Spanish fortress on the opposite side of the straits. Reports, which proved well founded, said that Gibraltar was but weakly garrisoned. and that its defences were wholly landequate to protect it from a vigorous attack; a hold and sudden descent might wrest it, therefore, from Spanish hands. Accordingly, upon August 1, 1704, the fleet appeared in the bay, and summoned the place to surrender. A certain Don Diego de Salinns was its governor, and he had, at his disposal just eighty regular soldiers, to which, by great exertions, ho added a few hundred volunteers and militia. With these, all ill-armed and ill-found as-they were, and with but few guns and small stores of powder and shot, he made what show he could; but the British bluejackets and marines, landing at three points -at the Old and New Moles, and at a bastion now known as Jumper's, from the naval captain of that name who here led the assault carried all before them. As a last resource, the nuns of Santa Clara, followed by a crowd of terrified women and children, went in procession to the shrine of the Virgen de Europa, to intercede for divine interposition; but they fell into the bands of the enemy, a to had by this time made themselves masters of the New Mole. Successful also at the other, points, Don Diego had no alternative but to capitulate and haul down his flag. The captors then took formal possession of the place in the name of Prince George of Hesse, who was present, and who claimed the throne of · Spain. But it was the Union Jack which was hoisted, and which, by the unsanctified doctrine that "might is right," has continued to wave over the Rock of Gibraltan from that day to this. Calpe, as it was named by the aucients, has known many masters Phonician traders came hither, and, think ing the straits the uttermost ends of the earth, erected a pillar on either side. which they dedicated to Hercules. A populous and onedent Carthaginian city, Carteia, aprang into being on the shores of the bay, the ruins of which are still visible Roman colonies were established there; the Goths also, in their turn, extended their dominions over these parts; but the first who recognised the strategical value of the rock was the one-eyed Berber chief Tarik, who captured, strengthened, and held it. him Gibraltar owes its present name, which is a corruption of Gibel Tarik, the "mountain of Tarik." With the rest of southern Spain. the rock long remained in Moslem handsnow re-captured by the Christian, now lapsing again to the Crescent, once more recogered for the Cross. The storm of battle and siego thus hovered around it century after contury, AHAMPAGNE "MONOPOLE." the Spaniards themselves having made many determined efforts to regain it after its capture by Rooke. But of all its sieges, the fourteenth-and, so far, the last-which began in June, 1779, and lasted till January, 1783, Early birds, therefore, do not ap- FIRICHORD pear to be common in the Old-World countries, but perhaps there are no "early worms' either! We are all aware of the soft languor which pervales our frame when we are called; of the delightful embraces of the warm bed clothes! From a social point of view, what do we gain by getting up early and disregarding the voice of the sluggard? We are terribly virtuous one morning. We made a resolution overnight to rise at 5 a.m. W set our "alarum" at that hour, or tapped five times on the floor immediately before getting into bed. So we duly awake at five, but we cannot see the time, so we strike a matchoh! how chilly our arms feel! Ugh! It is five minutes past five. Well, we must get We said we would! Off with the bedclothes! There, we are up. Good! Our candle—it is nearly burnt down already—is ACCONES, SHERRY, PORT. searcely sufficient to dress and shave by. We warm some water, however, and then daylight comes peeping in. Ah! the sun will soon rise. Glorious sight from the bill yonder. Yes, quick! We are dressed, and mean to PAINTS, OILS, VARNISH. go out without waking the family. We emerge from our room with this intention and, as a preliminary, stumble over our thick

EARLY BIRDS.

. "Did you ever soo the sun rise?" asked boots, which are violently propelled along the corridor, striking our friend's room door, and eliciting a domand, more or less polite, "What's that?" We stand still and grope our way down the passage. The boards all creak, so do the stairs; the banisters seem to spap at intervals. We are rousing whole house. Carlo, who declines all our landishments, barks loudly. Our host, perhaps his wife, emerges in alarm from the room beside We explain we are "only-going out to see the sun rise," and are told by the gentleman to go somewhere else-Bath, probably. We feel very bot and uncomfortable. We gain the door, pull back the bolts, and find [2310] ourselves in a dull, chill atmosphere, a misty TEN and gossamer-filled air. Stable clock strikes six. We must see the sun rise. So we trudge across the park, getting our feet wet through; never mind! We climb the hill; more wet. We reach the summit. Ah! we wish we had a biscuit or some milk now. But where is the sun? No sun this morning. The miss is too thick... We return before seven, alarm the housemaids, who chase us with dust clouds into the garden, where, to our disgust, we find dozens of fat worms only just getting up, and not a single bird visible anywhere vet! Disgusted, we return, pale and wet, to our room to re-dress, and get "chaffed" at breakfast by the very delightful girl who suggested our early rising! No, socially speaking, early rising is an error. If we go early to bed, well and good. But our artificia nineteenth-century life will not permit much early rising. Poets may dream of the beauties of the morning. We do not deny it Occasionally early rising is all very well. But it is not bealthy to get up early as a rule .that is very early. Old people want rest; young people want sleep. The early morning air is not wholesome. "It is laden," says a medical authority, "with pestiferous miasma," BAN Hup, Esq. though, feeling so cool and fresh. We often CHAN LI CHOY, Esq. Q. HOI CHUNE, Esq. feel languid at breakfast after an early walk in summer, and in winter we are simply frozen. Cui bono? (To what advantage?) Besides, your habitual early riser payable at any of its Agencies., is a nuisance. If he does not disturb you. he will come down on you from his assumed | Shareholders or not. elevated standpoint of virtue with his-"Ah! at seven o'clock" (or eight-no matter what hour) "I was out and about! I was far afield when you were sporing!" Well, what if he were! Did he do any good? Not much; he probably interfered with the gardeper, the grooms, or the gamekeepers, or witnessed a harmless flirtation between John and Mary, for which act they will bate him for ever! On the other hand, say the moralists, "by rising two hours earlier each day you will have gained at the end of forty years 29,000 hours, or seven years of life!" Very likely : but I may not live for forty years, and the want of rest may shorten my life too!

Thomas Moore tells us, "The best of all hours from night, my dear;" and he was certainly an authority. But there is an ap-overlooked. The early bild picks up the worm," it is said, and the true meaning of the maxim is, Be ready to seize your opportunity! At least, that is our own idea of it. Be first in the field when you perceive the worm; do not get up at 5 a.m. and perch on a damp wall, waiting for the worm which i too comfortable in his little (garden) bad to fleet of British and Dutch ships, inactive off look out. Be ready; make use of the hours of the day; the night cometh in which no man can work, and rest is as necessarymore necessary than money-making. -- Cas: sell's Saturday Journal. FOR SALE.
